Rome, November 15.

Paris, Dec. 13. * The following Letter was written Feb. 2. from Pondichery, a Place belonging to our Royal East-India Company, on the Coast of Comorndel; and where that Company have their chief Factory.

• The 3 Sultans, Sons of this great Prince, have
• each form'd their Parties, and wait only their Fa• ther's Death to push each of them for his Crown.
• These 3 Sultans have each of them several Chil• dren. When I speak of 3 Sons of Aurengzebe, I • do not include Sultan Agbat who is in Persia, and • who no Doubt will push his Fortune likewise ; for
• he has a strong Party among the Rasepouts, the • most warlike People of all India. He reckons like• wise upon Succors from the Sophy of Persia, into • whose Protection he put himself 19 or 20 Years ago,
• and who has an Esteem for him, and maintains him
• at his Court with great Magnificence and Splendor.
• The Revolution that will follow upon the Death of • Aurengzebe, is like to be a very terrible one.

• The Christian Pirates cause a great deal of • Trouble to fall upon the Europeans that have Set• tlements in the West-Indies, whom Aurengzebe

We have very creditable Advice here, that the King of Siam is dead, and that there is a bloody War in that Kingdom between the Pretenders to the Crown. The Arabians of Mascate, (whom I mention'd in the Letter I wrote to you last Year,) continue their Trade of Pyrating upon all Nations, and take Prizes frequently, principally on the Coast of Malabar. They have Ships that carry from 30 to 50 Guns. I think I told you in my former, that they made themselves Masters some Years ago of Mascate once possess'd by the Portuguese, a Nation formerly so formidable in India; but now grown so weak in these Parts, that 'tis very unlikely they will ever be able to recover Mascate, which is one of the Strongest Places they had in this Part of the World, as well by its advantageous Situation, as by its Fortifications, which are defended by a great Number of Cannon; which has made the Arabians who are the present Masters of it very considerable in India: They are govern'd by a Prince of their own Nation, a Man of a daring Spirit and great Skill in War.

‘ In answer to the Question you put to me in your last, what Number of People we have here ; I am to inform you, that besides about 400 French, Portuguese, and other Europeans, all Catholics ; there are (chiefly in our Suburbs) above 40000 Indians, particularly Malabars, who follow several Handicraft Trades. There are Weavers for example, and divers other Artificers, some of which have their Pagods, and others their Chappels ; the latter having been converted and baptiz’d by the Jesuites that are here. We have likewise in our District, which reaches 4 or 5 Leagues round us, and which the Dutch yielded up to us in Virtue of an Article of the Treaty of Rislewick ; we have, I say, 30 or 40 Villages, the Indians inhabiting which, in Number about 30000, work principally in plain and colour’d Callicoos, which they sell to our Factory. I am, &c.

Shields, Dec. 14. This day sail'd out of this Port about 40 sail of laden Colliers for Lynn, with their Convoy; As did also about 80 Sail more for the Coast and for London, under convoy of the Kinfale.

Plymouth, Dec. 15. The 13th came in Her Majesty's Ships the Hazardenx and Leftoff from the Downes, with 7 Ships under their Convoy. The 14th they sail'd hence with 4 small Vessels bound from London for Falmouth. Sail'd also Her Majesty's Ship the Mound, with some Coasters under her convoy.

Falmouth, Dec. 14. Last Night came in Her Majesty's jeffy's Ship the Hound from Plymouth, with 4 or 5 Sail of Coasters for this Place. Just now came in Her Majesty's Ship the Hazardeux and Leftoff, last from Plymouth, with 4 of our Tin-ships from London, and 2 small Ships from the Isle of Wight.

Tarmouth, Dec. 13. This day Her Majesty's Ships the Queenborough and Nightingal were again put back into these Roads with the Ships under their convoy.

London, December 19.
